KEY RISKS

6. What are the key risks associated with this product?

General risks

- Fund management risk – This risk refers to the day-to-day management of the Fund which will impact the performance of the Fund.
- Inflation risk – This is the risk that your investment in the Fund may not grow or generate income at a rate that keeps pace with inflation. This would reduce your purchasing power even though the value of the investment in monetary terms has increased.
- Loan financing risk – This risk occurs when you take a loan or financing to finance your investment. The inherent risk of investing with borrowed money includes you being unable to service the loan repayments. In the event Units are used as collateral, you may be required to top-up your existing instalment if the prices of Units fall below a certain level due to market condition. Failing which, the Units may be sold at a lower net asset value per unit as compared to the net asset value per unit at the point of purchase towards settling the loan.

* At our discretion, we may reduce the minimum initial investment amount, minimum additional investment amount and minimum holding of Units.

Asset Management

- Operational risk – This risk refers to the possibility of a breakdown in our internal controls and policies. The breakdown may be a result of human error, system failure or fraud where employees collude with one another. This risk may cause monetary loss and/or inconvenience to you.

Specific risks

- Collective investment scheme risk – Any adverse effect on the collective investment scheme which the Fund is investing in will impact the NAV of the Fund.
- Credit and default risk – Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the issuers of the money market instruments and their expected ability to make timely payment of interest and/or principal. Default risk relates to the risk of an issuer of the money market instruments either defaulting on payments or failing to make payments in a timely manner which will in turn adversely affect the value of the money market instruments.
- Interest rate risk – This risk refers to the impact of interest rate changes on the valuation of money market instruments. When interest rates rise, the money market instruments prices generally decline and this may lower the market value of the money market instruments. The reverse may apply when interest rates fall.
- Currency risk – As the investments of the Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the Base Currency, any fluctuation in the exchange rate between the Base Currency and the currencies in which the investments are denominated may have an impact on the value of these investments.

Currency risk at the Fund level

The impact of the exchange rate movement between the Base Currency of the Fund and the currency of the underlying investments (other than in USD) may result in a depreciation of the value of the investments as expressed in the Base Currency.

Currency risk at the Class level

The impact of the exchange rate movement between the Base Currency and the currency of the respective classes (other than USD Class) may result in a depreciation of your holdings as expressed in the Base Currency.

Currency risk at the Hedged-class level

The unhedged portion of the respective Hedged-class will be affected by the exchange rate movements and it may cause fluctuation of NAV of the respective Hedged-class.

- Liquidity risk – Liquidity risk refers to the ease of liquidating an asset depending on the asset's volume traded in the market. If the Fund holds assets that are illiquid, or are difficult to dispose of, the value of the Fund will be negatively affected when it has to sell such assets at unfavourable prices.
- Related party transaction risk – The Fund may invest in AHAM's collective investment schemes and may also have dealings with parties related to AHAM.
- Country risk – Investments of the Fund in any countries may be affected by changes in the economic and political climate, restriction on currency repatriation or other developments in the law or regulations of the countries in which the Fund invests in.

Specific risks relating to the collective investment schemes in which the Fund invests in

- Equity investment risk – The value of equities investment depends on its earning potential, sound management, treatment of minority shareholders, as well as a myriad of other factors. Failure to achieve the expected earnings would result in declining equities value.
- Credit and default risk – Credit risk relates to the creditworthiness of the issuers of the debt securities or money market instruments (hereinafter referred to as "investment") and their expected ability to make timely payment of interest and/or principal. Default risk relates to the risk of an issuer of the investment either defaulting on payment or failing to make payments in a timely manner which will in turn adversely affect the value of the investment.
- Interest rate risk – This risk refers to the impact of interest rate changes on the valuation of debt securities or money market instruments (hereinafter referred to as "investment"). When interest rates rise, the investment prices generally decline and this may lower the market value of the investment.

Note: Please refer to the Fund's Prospectus for further details on the general and specific risks.

It is important to note that events affecting the investments cannot always be foreseen. Therefore, it is not possible to protect investments against all risks.
